Christmas Island

Eons ago, Christmas Island was a living volcano under the sea floor and over thousands of years in isolation, it has developed its own sustainable eco system with unique flora and fauna, endemic species and lush jungle environment.

Rich in colonial history and with the influence of Chinese and Malay cultures, many religious festivals are celebrated throughout the year, providing visitors the opportunity to witness a kaleidoscope of colour and the spectacle of Christmas Islands cultural diversity.

David Attenborough described the red crab migration as “one of the natural wonders of the world”. Every year, at the beginning of the wet season (usually during October / November), millions of adult Christmas Island red crabs suddenly begin a spectacular migration from the forest to the coast, to mate and for the females to then release eggs into the sea.
